Dear APICS channel partner leaders:

APICS channel partners provide relevant, real-world education across the globe, and APICS wishes to recognize the opportunities your organizations offer to supply chain and operations management professionals everywhere.

APICS magazine encourages you to create awareness of these opportunities by submitting your channel partner events—such as seminars, professional development meetings, and top management nights—for inclusion in the “APICS Report” section of APICS magazine. To have your event considered for publication, send an email to editorial@apics.org with the following information:

- Program date
- Sponsoring channel partner
- Program name
- Location (including venue, city, state or province, and country)
- Keynote speaker(s), if applicable
- Website, if applicable
- Contact information and preferred method of communication

Please submit your event at least two months prior to the magazine issue date. For example, submissions considered for publication in the May/June issue of APICS magazine must be received no later than March 1.

Best regards,
