

Why Join APICS?

Jump-Start Your Career

It's never too soon to start developing practical knowledge and skills that lead to a successful operations management career. APICS student membership helps you establish a competitive edge before you graduate. This will translate to better career opportunities, greater job satisfaction, and enhanced career performance when you join the workforce.

About APICS

Our members join APICS because we are the global leader and premier source of the body of knowledge in operations management. For more than 50 years, members have relied on APICS for its educational programs, internationally recognized certifications, comprehensive resources, and worldwide network of accomplished industry professionals.

Student Members

APICS student members play an important role as future contributors and leaders to the operations management profession and the association. As a student member, APICS provides you with the industry publications, tools, resources, and connections that can enhance your knowledge and prepare you for career success.

For only $25,
join APICS as a student and invest in your career.

Who Are APICS Members?

APICS has more than 33,000 members in 15,000 manufacturing and service companies worldwide. Our members hold a wide range of positions in all areas of operations management, including production, inventory, supply chain, materials management, purchasing, and logistics.

Our membership base represents a diverse range of operations management professionals. APICS members are specialists, planners, managers, directors, and senior executives employed in a variety of industries, including automotive, food and beverage, pharmaceuticals, and electronics—just to name a few.

APICS Member Benefits

APICS Membership: Working for You

APICS membership provides you with a wide array of benefits to help you excel in your operations management studies and future career. Build your professional network, read APICS publications, and attend educational activities and events.

Affiliated Student Chapters

APICS has 200 affiliated student chapters on college campuses throughout North America. A student chapter's affiliation with a professional chapter provides students with access to educational programs, networking opportunities, certification exams, and other resources that will help build a stronger career. For the APICS student chapter nearest you, visit apics.org/chapters.

Student Members at Large

Even if your college or university does not have a student chapter, there is still a place for you at APICS. Student members at large enjoy online access to member benefits, resources, and savings. If you are interested in starting a student chapter at your college or university, please contact APICS Chapter Relations via email at chaprel@apics.org.

APICS International Conference & Expo

Student members pay just $99 to attend the APICS International Conference & Expo—that's a savings of up to 90 percent. This premier event is attended by thousands of professionals who come together to explore the latest industry trends and techniques.

APICS Scholars Education Program

The APICS Scholars Education Program selects students to attend the APICS International Conference & Expo to serve as educational session aides with expenses fully or partially paid by APICS. Students have the opportunity to attend presentations and meet with featured and educational session speakers, network with conference attendees, and visit the APICS exposition. To learn more, visit apics.org/scholars.

Case Competitions

During the spring, students from around the United States participate in case competitions on the East and West Coasts and in the Midwest. To learn more about participating in the case competition, contact your local APICS chapter or send an email to chaprel@apics.org.

>> The scholars program can make a significant impact on a person's life, career ambitions, and future leadership involvement with APICS.

Earn Recognition

APICS Student Voluntary Service Award

The APICS Student Voluntary Service Award honors student chapter members who demonstrate a deep commitment to volunteering in the chapter and community. Selection is based on contributions to the local chapter, leadership in other professional associations, and community service. Students are also evaluated on contributions to the professional chapter, district, or the association.

APICS Student Chapter Mentor Award

The Student Chapter Mentor Award commemorates a mentor's success in advancing the APICS vision through support of a student chapter. The recipient selection is based on leadership and innovation in mentoring activities, contributions to APICS and leadership in the college/university and other professional associations, and community service. Faculty, academic advisors, and chapter board members in good standing are eligible.

Note: Many professors or instructors qualify for an APICS Academic Professional Membership at a reduced cost.

Scholarships

Many APICS professional chapters offer scholarship opportunities based on participation in APICS activities, as well as academic achievement. For the APICS professional chapter nearest you, contact APICS Customer Support or visit the APICS web site at apics.org/chapters.

>> The experience at the APICS International Conference & Expo was very beneficial. I was able to meet a lot of new people, as well as gather valuable information. I really enjoyed how the conference was affirming that my college coursework interlinks with the APICS body of knowledge.
